Pricing

Price is a value judgment. It is important to have your other costs in proportion to your entertainment. It is said, "the most important aspect of your reception will be the entertainment." For example, you wouldn't want to spend more on a dessert tray than you would on your entertainment.

Here is a list of wedding items. Beside each, place a grade to indicate its level of importance to you:

- A. The very best I can afford. (personal, long lasting, important or favorite items)
- B. Quality, but not as important as "A" (will have a major effect on the day's events)
- C. Adequate to do the job. (standard items)
- D. Minimal cost required. (mandatory items)
- E. Only if money is left in the budget. (items of little value to me)
